Aerial platforms and manlifts have become integral and common equipment in industrial settings over the past few decades. These machines provide an easy way to lift workers close to what needs to be carried out on a stable platform apparatus, allowing staff to do tasks with greater comfort and safety rather than being perched on top of scaffolding or ladders.

The manlift is like other industrial devices in that they are safe if utilized properly. As they elevate staff above floor or ground level, accidents could happen easily and this may cause serious fatalities or injuries for both the manlift operators as well as any passerby who may not be lucky enough to be standing beneath.

There are a variety of kinds of manlifts. The majority fall into 1 of 2 categories: the articulating boom lift, which has the capability of both vertical and horizontal movement and the scissors lift, which is capable of moving up and down.
